All investing involves risk, and asset allocation and diversification do not guarantee a profit or protect against a loss. Past performance is not indicative of future results. With respect to the Vantage Model Strategies referenced herein, as with any investment philosophy, there is possibility of profitability as well as loss. Diversification seeks to improve performance by spreading investment dollars into various asset classes to add balance to a portfolio. In addition, stop-loss strategies seek to limit losses by selling after a certain level of decline. Using these methods, however, does not guarantee a profit or protection from loss in a declining market. Beacon Capital Management, Inc. does not guarantee performance for any investment recommendation.
